

McFarland Park

Legend

- | Trail Color |                              |
|-------------|------------------------------|
|             | Blue (2.51 mi)               |
|             | Connector Trails             |
|             | Green (1.19 mi)              |
|             | Orange (1.32 mi)             |
|             | Pink (0.21 mi)               |
|             | Red (0.47 mi)                |
|             | Touch-A-Life Trail (1.51 mi) |
|             | Yellow (0.37 mi)             |
|             | Streams                      |
|             | Public Hunting               |
|             | Wildlife Refuge              |
|             | Infrastructure               |
|             | Lakes/Rivers                 |
|             | Prairie                      |
|             | Woodland                     |
|             | Conservation Center          |
|             | Steps                        |
-
- |  |                   |
|--|-------------------|
|  | Chronolog Station |
|  | Clue              |
|  | Start Here        |
|  | Bridge            |
|  | Bird Blind        |

180TH ST

P

P

McFarland Park Clues

"Arrr...Squeak..."

Hide and go seek is the name of this game
find member's of my crew to claim your fame!
Find each clue to help you discover where to go next.

Can you answer my questions and pass my test?

Please remember the clues go in order,
if you can't find one, use the map to move forward.

Not trying is the only way to fail,

Enjoys today's challenge from
Captain BushTale!"

"Don't worry your first clue is near,
It's time to start the adventure you have nothing to fear.

Find grandmother oak, whose branches fall
to the ground

It's a great hiding spot, shhhh don't make a sound.

~Captain BushTale

"Congratulations on finding clue number one

Are you ready to start having more fun?

Your challenge is to find a member of my crew,

deep in the forest she is hiding from you!

Can you figure out what animal form she takes?

Each clue will give you hints to keep you from making mistakes.

My next clue is at a great place to be a spy

You can watch the birds as they sit, or fly by.

Q. Who has a black body that shines in the sun?

~Captain BushTale

"Congratulation's you found clue number two..."

If you sit quietly here, the birds come to you!

It's time to leave the birds, though they are the best,
you must take the trail that heads to the west,
go down the Iowa mountain, then north then east...

where can a raccoon go to wash his feast?

Q. Who is so smart, that wildlife biologist refer to this animal as the feathered apes?"

"Well well, you found clue number three,

It's rather peaceful here wouldn't you agree?

To continue on, keep headed east

cross the long bridge, and listen for the water fall

take the path left, cross the short bridge and get ready for a haul.

On your way look for the hole in the tree,

It should be no higher, than your adults knee.

Q. What kind of animal when grouped together is called a "murder?"

~Captain BushTale

"Well you made it to clue number four,

do you think you are brave enough to handle some more?

Follow the stairs at the second place to sit and rest,

you will find another clue to continue this quest.

Q. Who is an omnivore that eats plants and animals, and taunts men made of straw?

~Captain BushTale

What a strive,

you made it to five!

Continue forward

find the station to take a picture with your phone

Keep going the direction you are being shown.

Find the next clue, where there is water not for drinking

when you find the pump, it will be time do some real thinking.

Q. Who can remember your face, and mimic the sounds of humans and other animals?

~Captain BushTale

"Well how about this,

you made it to six!

Have you figured what kind of animal is my friend?

She is close by now watching you till the end.

Still not sure? "Caw Caw," she would say.

Take 20 steps South West and find "TAPPER"
and you will be about six steps away.

Be sure to use a careful, slow eye,

read what she has to say, before saying goodbye."

~Captain BushTale

